Marking and Feedback Policy

At GEMS Winchester School, Fujairah, we believe that a quality marking and feedback policy will contribute to all children being active participants in their learning, enabling them to reach their academic and personal potential. In doing so, our comprehensive Marking and Feedback Policy reassures and motivates children and adults alike in the pursuit of excellence in learning. We prioritise a High Performance Learning approach to foster confident and successful students through meaningful feedback that promotes student lead learning and progress.

Marking is an important part of the assessment process and reflects the aims of the school, which seek to encourage the highest possible standards for each child as they journey towards achieving high performance. Our policy is underpinned by key principles.

Effective Written Feedback should:

- Be provided in a timely manner (within 48hrs)
- Provide clear information to children about the strengths and next steps with regards to their work.
- Encourage children to strive and improve and promoting meta-cognition through independence of self-correcting.
- Direct children to what they need to do to improve their work and the next steps they need to take.
- Identify achievements and the next steps in their learning promoting critical and logical thinking across the curriculum
- Relate to learning and HPL objectives for each lesson
- Give children specific praise for the success of their work, showing it is valued building confident and independent students
- Give children clear strategies on how they can improve their work through next steps.
- Be read by pupils and time should be given for them to improve their work
- Help teachers evaluate teaching and inform future planning and next steps in learning
- Provide a tool for teacher assessment
- Help parents to understand the strengths and growth areas to develop in their children's work.
- Intentionally embed HPL ACP and VAA terminology in feedback to help students grow as high performance learners (stickers of HPL animals can be used)

Why do we mark children's work?

- To help teachers monitor children's progress and to diagnose what has not been understood so as to assist forward planning and learning
- To provide helpful feedback to children so that: their needs are identified and we can discuss with them what they find difficult and the next steps they need to take
- To ensure that children's achievements are recognised thus giving encouragement and building confidence
- To ensure set tasks have been carried out to an expected standard
- To formulate a teacher judgment for progress and attainment against curriculum standards
- To create agile students by developing enquiring students who are confident to take risks and lead their own learning.
- To use feedback as a means of developing HPL VAAs for positive progress.

Peer and Self-Assessment

From the Early Years upwards, pupils will be involved in the assessment process. We expect students to take ownership of their learning and have many opportunities to reflect through peer and self-assessment. The collaborative approach provides opportunity to develop linking strategies like seeing alternative perspectives.

- Teachers will share learning intentions (LI) with pupils in all lessons. This will help students to monitor, evaluate and self correct
- Teachers will clarify, understand and share clear success criteria for pupils to self or peer assess against as appropriate. Students will use critical thinking to analyse work
- We encourage pupils to see themselves as the 'first markers' and audience for their learning. Children should be encouraged to find their OWN mistakes and to check and improve their own work individually or with the help of a peer before showing their work to the teacher. As such, this will be through using VCOP colours within their writing. The HPL learning wave will be used to enable students to reflect and evaluate.
- Teachers must plan for feedback to take place and should include a range of assessment types including peer and self-assessment. Collaborative strategies should be used to enhance progress and performance.

Children's response to marking

All staff emphasise the importance of understanding the marking system and the positive effect the process has upon the pupils. Close reflection and review of the teachers' marking by the pupils is imperative, otherwise it negates the time the teacher has spent upon it, and does little to improve learning. HPL VAAs like Meta-thinking, linking and analyzing will be explicitly taught and referred to enable students to respond to marking meaningfully.

Children should be given time, at the start of each lesson or during Review Time to be able to read and respond to the written feedback the teacher has provided. Children should be encouraged to ask for clarification, if they do not understand a comment and should be clear about what they need to do in their next piece of work, as a result of the feedback they have received. Children should be expected to respond to the written feedback, either by correcting their mistake in purple pen or by writing a reply. HPL Hard working VAAs should be continually referred to so that students' practice, persevere and are resilient. Reference to the HPL Learning wave should be made to encourage self-monitoring and evaluating, supporting growth mindset.

Quality teacher Next Step marking: Rich formative assessment to 'close the gap' or extend – Primary

Next step comments are underpinned by growth mindset characteristics evident in the HPL Learning Wave so that students are encouraged to embrace their learning journey.

There are four types of Next Steps:

1. Scaffolding- A child has a misconception or error and the teacher provides a scaffolded response to get them unstuck and to make progress.
2. Find and Fix- Signposting work to improve with a clear focus. E.g. Question 2 has an error in place value. Find and fix.
3. Consolidation- A child needs more practise, or the teacher wants to assess if they are able to demonstrate a skill independently
4. Further Challenge / Stretch- A child has demonstrated secure understanding during the lesson and so is offered a challenge or a new context.

GEMS WSF Marking and Feedback Policy

EYFS

HPL terminology should be used in conjunction with the HPL characters whenever possible when giving feedback.

In EYFS, marking and feedback strategies include:

- Verbal Praise or use of stickers and stamps
- Written annotations- using a circle for letter/number formation,
- Short and narrative observations (written)
- Annotation of work and photographs by staff
- Children beginning to annotate their own work and pictures
- Oral dialogue with children about their play, work or special books

Secondary Teacher to Student Feedback: Guidance

Teachers will provide feedback using live marking and feedback during lessons and an in-depth piece of monthly feedback to include student reflection on learning statements found on the marking and feedback rubric and a What Worked Well (WWW) and one Even Better If (EBI) comment.

Self, Peer assessment and Verbal Feedback- Secondary

Students will be given the opportunity to self-assess their work weekly. Learners should be encouraged to use VAA and ACP vocabulary within their reflections to identify how they have matched criteria and their understanding of language used. Another opportunity for feedback would be for a peer to also assess their work before it is handed in to the classteacher for comments and ways forwards. Verbal feedback will be shared weekly and this will include insights that can support students to understand their strengths and areas of improvement. Students will write this feedback using their GREEN pens.

Verbal Feedback: Guidance

- I can see that you have focused on ... in this piece. Have you thought about now ...?
- As a group, we were successful at but less successful at
- Looking again at the criteria for this task, which element do you think you have been most successful at?
- Which aspect of this would you approach differently next time? How/why would you do it differently?
- What did you find most challenging about this activity?
- If I asked you to give feedback to 'X' on their work, what would you suggest they could do to improve it further?
- Can you change or add 5 words to improve the vocabulary of this piece?
- You and your partner have different answers; can you convince your partner that your answer is more accurate?

Students will then write a summative comment in their books using their GREEN pen to link the feedback back to the Learning Intention (LI) to say what they can now do which they could not before e.g. I can now...

What Worked Well (WWW): - Primary and Secondary

Marking and feedback, whether verbal and informal or written and more formal, should be encouraging and related to understood criteria which shows the learner clearly what is required to improve. It should praise the process rather than the outcomes as much as possible and refer to the learning intention and/or Success Criteria. The focus and high profile of the HPL language in the use and recognition of advanced cognitive performance characteristics (ACPs) and the importance of building positive values and attitudes (VAAs) is evident in day to day teaching and learning with the aim to increase in confidence and resilience and this language should be used by teachers to shape feedback provided to learners. Learners should recognise that it is their hard work, resilience, learning from mistakes and persistence that leads to progress and this is what we celebrate in our feedback. Teachers will write using GREEN pen. Reference to learning intentions and HPL terminology should be used.

For example: (Primary teachers refer to the HPL and general banks of comments)

- Yesterday you found these really tricky, but today you used the column method effectively to solve the problems.
- Your confidence has really grown with adding fractions
- You have made so much progress using emotive language
- You should be very proud of this poem, you used a range of powerful adjectives
- You really pushed yourself this lesson, your opening sentence really hooked me in!
- You have been so resilient in your learning this week; you have used all the features we learnt in your persuasive writing.
- You didn't give up and tried 3 different methods to find the answer.

Even Better If (EBI):

Learners should be encouraged to develop intellectual curiosity and confidence, demonstrate self-regulation and resilience. In addition to developing the broader range of cognitive skills, learners should also develop the values, attitudes and attributes critical to helping them achieve good academic outcomes and prepare them for adult life. EBI comments should always be something to challenge learners that they can respond to. They should help the children consolidate or deepen their learning. There should be a clear link across all subjects with the Hardworking VAA attributes; Practice, Perseverance, Resilience. Teachers will write the EBI in RED pen.

*Additional exam specific data feedback will be required to share with GCSE and A level learners

Response to Marking (RTM): - Secondary

When the books are returned to students, they will respond to the EBI points using their GREEN pen.

Monitoring and Evaluation

The Senior Leadership Team and Middle Leaders will review the quality of marking as part of their ongoing role when appraising books. Feedback will be given to teachers as appropriate. Book scrutiny will form part of Student Progress meetings. Evidence of reference to HPL will be monitored

The desired outcomes are improvements in children's learning and greater clarity amongst children and parents concerning children's achievements and progress. The HPL learning wave is to be referred to.

The performance indicators will be:

- An improvement in children's attainment and progress
- Student voice
- Consistency in teachers' marking
- Awareness on the part of the pupils of what is expected of them
- Evidence of the development of HPL VAAs and ACPs

Sensitive Marking

It is particularly important to encourage aspiration and make appropriate adjustments to make learning accessible. WSF is an inclusive school which provides equal opportunities for all pupils. This policy supports the use of 'sensitive marking' for our students of determination where teacher discretion will be used to mark and feedback on pupils learning to ensure a positive and encouraging approach is maintained. At WSF High Performance Learning is at the forefront of marking and feedback to ensure a growth mindset unpins feedback and correction to ensure student progress

Please note that all self and peer-assessment will need to be guided and scaffolded by the teacher at the beginning and throughout the year, depending on the activity. This will involve close co-operation with staff supporting learners with these challenges. Teachers have access to IEPs and are expected to liaise with learning support staff to ensure appropriate provision is made for each learner. Learners have access to academic enrichment opportunities through each term by means of events, house competitions, visiting speakers and STEM challenges. Gems Winchester Fujairah school recognizes that learners learn at different paces and our philosophy is not, 'can't' but 'not there yet.'
